Gift wrapping Walt Disney World Resort for the holidays

Almost 8.5 million lights. 15 miles of garland. 1,314 wreaths. And 300,000 yards of ribbon made into bows. Yep...no one does the holidays quite like Walt Disney World® Resort and the team of “elves” they've got working 365 days a year to bring this winter wonderland to life.

“We start the first week in November, and by the time our Guests are thinking about the holidays, we're finished,” says Lisa Borotkanics, a sort of “Mrs. Claus” who oversees the Walt Disney World Holiday Services team. Amazingly, the magic happens overnight at each of the Disney Resort hotels, and it only takes two to three nights to transform each of the four Theme Parks.

And speaking of the transformation—it's quite a feat. “It takes nine trailers to move the enormous Christmas trees backstage,” Lisa explains. The trees range in height from 45 to 70 feet and weigh 28,000 to 32,000 pounds each. And it takes more than 5,500 twinkle lights for each tree!”

The over-the-top decorations provide a beautiful backdrop for live shows and holiday entertainment all across the Walt Disney World Resort.

Her favorite Park to decorate? Disney's Hollywood Studios®. “Tinseltown, the nostalgia of Hollywood and the amazing Spectacle of Dancing Lights,” she said.

Here, The Osborne Family Spectacle of *Dancing Lights has been a Walt Disney World® tradition since 1995. With millions of brilliant bulbs blanketing the backlot, the extravaganza features animated displays synchronized to high-energy holiday tunes Nov. 8 through Jan. 3. Guests get immersed in colorful wreaths, twirling carousels, flying angels and Santa and his reindeer—all amid swirling “snow” flurries.

At Disney's Animal Kingdom® Theme Park, an enormous Christmas tree decorated with animal-themed ornaments is lifted into place with a 70-foot crane just outside the entrance. Inside the Park, the holidays are playfully celebrated with Mickey's Jingle Jungle Parade with some favorite Disney Characters singing and dancing to holiday tunes with a world beat twist. The high-energy afternoon cavalcade runs daily from Nov. 26 through Jan. 3.

“The 65-foot Magic Kingdom® tree is a Guest favorite,” says Lisa. “The giant strings of popcorn, gingerbread and candles decorating the tree are just so much fun.” (The base alone weighs 18,000 pounds and is 26 feet wide.) In addition, each evening at sunset from Nov. 8 through Jan. 3, Cinderella and her friends magically transform Cinderella Castle into an ice palace aglow with 200,000 white lights in Castle Dreamlights.

At Epcot®, all the World Showcase countries are spruced up for Holidays Around the World, with storytellers in each of the countries sharing customs and lore from their heritage from Nov. 26 through Dec. 30. From the good-hearted witch La Befana, known in Italy for filling children's shoes with treats, to jolly Father Christmas in the United Kingdom, it's a global celebration, including Kwanzaa and Hanukkah. Each evening is capped by IllumiNations: Reflections of Earth, the Epcot® spectacular featuring fireworks, lasers and water...all spruced up for the season with a spirited holiday finale.

The Osborne Family Spectacle of Dancing Lights began some 20 years ago in Little Rock, Arkansas, when Jennings Osborne strung 1,000 lights as a Christmas gift to his daughter. It moved here in 1995 after the exhibit grew into millions of lights.

More holiday fun around our World

Winter Wonderland in the Disney Resorts

Each of the Walt Disney World® Resorts gets its holiday makeover in a single night.

"It's a mass entrance, with 60-plus people engulfing a Resort hotel in one night to get it all done," Lisa says. Some hotel Guests will stay up all night to watch the progress.

The biggest Christmas tree on property is in front of Disney's Contemporary Resort, towering 70 feet and decorated with 35,800 LED lights. At Kidani Village at Disney's Animal Kingdom® Lodge, the quaint 20-foot tree is decorated with handmade ornaments made in villages throughout Africa. Each of the Disney Resort hotels has a special theme and decorations, but none more astonishing than the life-size gingerbread house in the lobby of Disney's Grand Floridian Resort & Spa. To create the 16-foot-high dream house, Walt Disney World pastry chefs use 1,050 pounds of honey, 600 pounds of powdered sugar, 800 pounds of flour, 140 pints of egg whites and 180 pounds of apricot glaze. Meanwhile, at Disney's Beach Club Resort, a life-size carousel silently spins in the lobby, featuring ponies made of chocolate and fondant, giant candy cane poles, handcrafted poinsettias and hand-painted portraits of famous Disney Characters.

More Holiday Fun at Downtown Disney® Area

Grab a photo with Santa Claus daily from Nov. 19 through Dec. 24. (Santa Goofy steps in from Dec. 25 through Jan. 3.) Then pull out your shopping list! Visit Once Upon a Toy decorated with oversize toys such as Mr. Potato Head, Barrel of Monkeys and Scrabble pieces.

"Holiday Services is just one of many teams," Lisa says. "Entertainment, visual merchandise...it's the whole package that makes the season magical."

All Is Bright

A Disney Musical Director talks about Candlelight Processional

One of the most unique things about the beloved Candlelight Processional is the connection it creates between Epcot® Guests, a massed choir, a 50-piece orchestra and an A-list celebrity narrator.

Since 1990, Musical Director Rick Mizell of Walt Disney Entertainment has also waved the baton as one of the conductors for this five-decade Disney Parks tradition. "We've only made a few musical changes," he told us. "About six years ago, we added 'Do You Hear What I Hear?' and 'Away in a Manger' in order to include the Voices of Liberty from The American Adventure Pavilion."

It's a celebration of diversity, including "Silent Night" in German and "What Child is This?" in Spanish. Edward James Olmos narrates in Spanish and English. "He is an incredible gentleman," said Rick. "Also, hearing Isabella Rossellini narrate with her wonderful Italian accent is remarkable. She is truly a gracious lady. And when Marlee Matlin signs the narration while Jack Jason interprets for her, it is in my opinion, one of the most powerful experiences."

Each night, variances in narrator, musicians, singers and audience dynamics bring different nuances to every performance. And since you're a Passholder, you can enjoy it over and over again. For up-to-date details, visit disneyworld.com/holidays.
